

Robert E. Andrews

Robert E. Andrews currently serves as the CEO of the Health Transformation Alliance (HTA).

As CEO of the HTA, Andrews oversees the strategic direction of approximately 80+ leading self-insured employers that have come together in an alliance to fix our broken healthcare system. Founded in 2016 by four pioneering employers from American Express, Macy's, Verizon and Caterpillar, the HTA member companies collectively are responsible for more than 5 million lives (employees, dependents, and retirees) in the United States and 8 million globally with an annual healthcare spend of over $40 billion and saving member companies $2 billion or more annually in healthcare costs. Through Andrews' leadership, the HTA has delivered value-driven solutions to improve patient care and economic value through world-class data and analytics, pathbreaking pharmaceutical solutions, high-quality medical services, and robust consumer engagement initiatives. Andrews' leadership has been equally important in the HTA addressing racial and ethnic disparities in health care, mental health issues, and safe return-to-work programs following the pandemic. In January 2026, HTA marked its tenth anniversary.

Andrews led the Government Affairs practice at Dilworth Paxson law firm for two years before joining HTA.

Prior to private practice, Andrews served as a Member of the United States House of Representatives for nearly 24 years. Upon his departure from Congress, President Barack Obama praised Andrews' service as "an original author of the Affordable Care Act...and a vital partner in its passage and implementation," and cited his "tenacity and skill" in representing the people of New Jersey.

Andrews is married to Camille Spinello Andrews, a former Associate Dean at Rutgers Law School and former Dilworth partner, and they have two daughters, Jacquelyn and Josie.

During his time in the U.S. House, Andrews served in the following capacities:

- Member of the House of Democratic Leadership as Co-Chairman of the Steering Policy Committee
- Senior Democratic Member and former Chairman of the Health, Employment, Labor, and Pensions (HELP) Subcommittee of the House Committee on Education and the Workforce
- Senior member of the House Armed Services Committee, with responsibility for all national defense matters
- Senior Democratic member and the former Chairman of the Defense Committee Panel on Defense Procurement Reform
- Senior Democratic member and former Chairman of the Defense Committee Panel on Audit of the Pentagon
- Participant, White House Summit on Health Care Reforms (2009 and 2010)
- One of the Original Authors of the Affordable Care Act
- One of the original authors of the Defense Procurement Reform Law (2009)

Andrews' professional and community activities include his time as former Director of Camden County Board of Commissioners.

Andrews has been a keynote speaker at charitable, educational, and governmental events for over 30 years, including Bucknell University commencement, Rutgers Law School commencement, and Rutgers Camden commencement. He has been a frequent guest on CNN, Fox News, MSNBC, and CNBC. He also contributes to The New York Times, Axios, Bloomberg Law, Fierce Healthcare, MedCity News, Becker's Payer Issues, Healthcare Brew, and Modern Healthcare.

Andrews is a MedCity News Influencer.

Education:

J.D., magna cum laude, Cornell Law School, 1982 • Cornell Law Review • Order of the Coif

B.A., summa cum laude with honors, Bucknell University, 1979 • Phi Beta Kappa